Are you interested in the concept of 'Stage Zero'? RRC are keen to hear from anyone exploring restoration schemes which fully reconnect the floodplain, along the lines of 'Stage Zero', or who have already started to deliver projects along those lines. Let us know so we can help share ideas & experiences through site visits, discussions, etc., and a morning workshop at the next RRC Conference >>

Have you recently published a blog or article? Let us know and we can share it on our website! >>
