

All NRW staff are members of the River Restoration Centre

The RRC is an independent, not for profit UK advisory and information centre which promotes, facilitates and supports best practice in river, watercourse and floodplain restoration and management. The RRC is not a project or design consultancy and it does not bid or competitively tender for work.

As a statutory agency, NRW is eligible for 'Core Funder' membership (not other Membership grades). The level of support and cost is specific to NRW, managed by a nominated national contact.

The services shown below are available to Natural Resources Wales staff

Free of charge Budget dependent*

General enquiries and advice on river restoration, best practice mitigation and habitat enhancement by telephone, email and social media channels.

Access to the National River Restoration Inventory \(NRRI\) database of working with natural processes, watercourse management and river restoration information and European case studies.

Information to promote or implement river rehabilitation and mitigation work through the RRC website and monthly bulletins.

A referral service to third parties (e.g. developers, NGOs) for advice and information on aspects of watercourse habitat management.

Independent review of proposals for river restoration, rehabilitation or mitigation to improve design.

Discounted rate for attending the RRC Annual Conference and training courses, as well as free attendance to RRC members site visits.

Support for NRW initiatives requiring reporting and analysis of UK restoration data from the NRRI and RHS databases.

Site specific scoping, advice and pre-feasibility reporting of options for restoration, habitat enhancement and best practice watercourse management.

Bespoke guidance, training and mentoring for staff at discounted 'member' rates (courses, technical workshops).

* Subject to available budget. Contact Jill Howells, Rhodri Powell, Sue Hearn or RRC for more information.

How do I use RRC services?

Call 01234 752979 or email rrc@therrc.co.uk to use or enquire about the above services. For further details about the services available to Natural Resources Wales staff, please contact the RRC's Natural Resources Wales project managers, Jill Howells, Rhodri Powell or Sue Hearn.